

If you're reading this and I am not dead I am going to beat the crap out of you.

If you killed me and are now ransacking my apartment, I hope you enjoyed the little party favors I left for uninvited guests. I should also let you know that a couple years ago I hired a shaman to put a fairly nasty curse on my home aimed at any demon who came in uninvited. I hope you like maggots.

If you're Kat or John or Anita then I suppose I got myself killed. I hope I took whatever damn thing it was with me.

I know I could be a pain in the ass at times. Sorry. Thanks for putting up with me.

I don't have much that anybody would want. Anita can have my demon notes if she thinks they'll be useful.

John or Kat can have my grappling hook if either of them wants it. I have had it for years and never actually been in a situation where I needed to use the damn thing.

I leave Drake every single one of my holy symbols. Also any holy water in the house.

I leave the bus to Kat if she wants it. She will be driving soon. If she does not want it and someone else does that can have it. Otherwise just give it to Goodwill or something. Same with my clothes.

Attached is a list of demons and vampires I have used as contacts because they were useful at the time but who are definitely evil, and where they hang out. If you get the chance I would appreciate it if they could be killed. If not that's cool.

Yes Drake, that means you.

Make sure I don't come back.

Bye.